THE SULTAN OF TURKEY. - A friend of mine who has just returned from Turkey, and who had occasion to be brought in contact with the Sultan and many of his ministers, tel's me, says the editor of the London Truth, that the Commander of the Faithful is, without exception, the most utterly faithless scamp in his dominions. Whenever he appoints a minister he says to him, "You must find means to resist all demands for reform, and your tenure of office will depend upon the length of time that you can do this without compromising me. Eventually the Ambassadors will complain of you, when I shall pretend to be most indignant at your not having carried out my policy, and shall sacrifice you for having deceived me." The Sultan is the son of an Armenian mother. and it is generally supposed that his real father was an Armenian. He is neither a drunkard nor a voluptuary, and although by no means an able man he has a considerable amount of low counting. He is believed to be accumulating a considerable fund, for although the finances of his country are in a desperate condition taxes do com) io, and yet neither the army nor the civil employees are paid.

FOOLED AGAIN, -A man who was too poor even to count votes, and more intoxicated than a lord, fell out of a two story window in Houston, the other day, and a crowd seeing him fall, rushed up to the spot and swore individually and collectively that he was as dead as a pickled mackerel. While his wife was running through the house screaming like a tug whistle, he suddealy got up, to the surprise of the whole crowd and one of the party dashed into the house, and seeking his wife said, "Thank God, madam, he is not dead. He still lives."

"Not dead!" she screamed. "The contemptible old cheat; this is the third time he he has fooled me in a month. Oh! if it had only been a four story window how different it might have been."

"Madam," said the astonished stranger, "you should be thankful you husband wasn't "Killed !" she howled, spatching her back hair down, while her eyes sparkled like swa gimblet points, "why, that worthless, drunken old brute could tumble out of the market house tower and then get over it. He only acts that way to worry and disappoint me !' THE famine in Persia continues with unabated severity. Mr. Sheed, an American missionary at Ocomiah, Persia, writes: "The past two weeks have been the worst we have seen. In the city the Moslem charity, after three weeks' effort, failed, and nearly 3,000 whom they had been feeding were turned into the streets. Fifty or more are daily dying-dying men, little children thrown into the streets to die, corpses balf eaten of dogs, are common sights. With a few exceptions, there is no money or care shown by the Khans and the wealthy, and nothing is done by the government. In Moslem villages the death rate is increasing. In one village three women were taken in the act of eating a child. Where our relief committees are at work, few deaths have occurred, but unless the relief is increased, many persons thus far preserved will daop off. Many are greatly reduced in strength, and the two months to come threaten a worse condition than in the two months past. The price of grain is very high, and the supply by importation only."-Christian Herald. CINCINNATI can well claim to be a great trading and manufacturing city. Her iron manufactures are now valued at $17,000,000 yearly. while of other metal she produces wares to the value of over $5 000,000. The extent of her pork packing is shown by the fact that her food supplies are valued at $20 500 000, while her beers and wines are worth $26 300,000 yearly. In wood manufactures her annual output is estimated at $15 000 000. Her leather product is worth $10,000 000, and of soaps, candl is and oils she makes and sells to the extent of $8,-

640 000 yearly. AUCTION SALES.
